

Crossing the Gap : No boundaries , No worries !

When BABY BOOMERS meet The Gen Y

You have seen it around, back in campus, the after hours BOD meetings, and all the way to the gym locker room, generation gap occupies our life spaces.

Naturally, it has drawn us back a little farther behind from initiating the good old connection among us. Inevitably but rather meant it , we get ourselves accustomed by it whilst the feeling goes on mutually among the new generation. The notion also freezes me every time, that last Saturday morning certainly was not an exception either, as I faced these fresh look freshmen, sophomores and Trojan alum juniors.

Fortunately , the iceberg melted fast as we uttered our first Hey.. Whilst the next few seconds after we just swirling away enjoying a good warm dialogue and yes we connect !

We manage to get the gap out of the equation.

Husodo Angkosubroto gave his opening speech at the 2009 Summer USC Alumni Welcoming Party Saturday morning, July 25, 2009 Jakarta

You would be surprised to know that these gen Y are really fun to talk with, they are smart young fellows, ready to track on the fast lane.

My best wishes shall go with these bright USC students as well as to all new Trojans fellows whom I am proud to welcome them home.

Welcome Aboard, Trojans..

Fight On !
